THROUGH A WOMAN'S EYE

By Mrs. W. W. Whitaker

The Editor, Whyte Whitaker, is at Hot Springs, Ark., taking the baths, and the responsibility for "getting out the paper" rests on Mrs. Whitaker and Mr. Horn, the printer.

BUY A BOMBER CAMPAIGN

The women of the Nation are again conducting a special drive to sell War Bonds. This time each state is ambitious to add to the fleet of Bombers already serving Uncle Sam and our allies all over the world. During November strive to buy an extra bond. Every War Bond, even the smallest, does triple duty. It finances the war our sons are giving their lives to win, it fights inflation and finances you, yourself, to partake of the wonders that are to come after the war.

Remember to buy Bonds at the uptown BOOTH.

WORKMEN'S COMPENSATION

I was asked recently what ideas I had on "Workmen's Compensation" so I have thought about it a little.

Mississippi is the only state in the Union not having Workmen's Compensation. I understand that all candidates for important jobs shy off from it like a stray pup from hot water. It seems to me that if we had this law in Mississippi we would stand a better chance of having more industries in our state. Should a laborer lose an arm or leg working for a concern in Mississippi he could sue the owner of the company for an untold and often unjust amount of money. The injured person could call for a jury, often composed of friends, and win easily against his employer, who is often looked upon as a "rich guy." Anyway. States having the Workmen's Compensation law are governed by its ruling and a certain amount is stipulated for certain injuries or disability.

The blame for not having the Workmen's Compensation law in Mississippi is laid at the door of lawyers who handle these cases and the many laborers, who are willing to take a chance on receiving a big sum of money in case they are injured while working. The industrial heads do not take all this "lying down" either. Often their lawyer out smarts local people and it would be advantageous for the injured person to receive benefits under established law.

It looks as if Mississippi people should have this law if the best interest in 47 other states have so decided it is best for them.

A COINCIDENT

The 24 hours of March 4th and 5th of 1933 were more fateful for mankind than any other of this century, for on March 4th, a little after noon, Franklin Delano Roosevelt was inaugurated as President of the United States and before midnight of March 5th, the German Reichstag had put absolute power in the hands of Chancellor Adolf Hitler. These two champions of totally antagonistic ways of life, seeking so terribly to destroy each other must in reality be super men. One wonders if at times these men can continue to carry the burden of leadership and resultant responsibility efficiently.

STORM STRIKES SATURDAY

The warm Spring-like weather we experienced on Saturday and the heavy rain and electric storm in the late afternoon proved most disastrous for our neighbors to the South. Near Walden, Miss., a twister ripped into the Midway Church community and killed three people. A number of houses were leveled in this community.

The storm hit in the McComb area, in Louisiana and on Gulf Coast.

People killed near Walden were Mrs. John Thomas Walker, her son, Henry, and a negro woman, Carrie Hill.

Grenada County Library To Observe Book Week

National Book Week, November 14-20, will be a busy time in Grenada County Library. New books will be on exhibit and many outside activities will be added to the regular schedule. Thursday of this week, a short talk on Book Week and a report on the summer reading for children will be made before the P. T. A. Beginning Monday, each grade of the Elementary school will be visited for a story hour or review on new books. It has been the custom to invite the children by grades to visit the library for this week but on account of the cramped quarters, we must go to them in the school. Instruction will be given to the higher grades on the use of the library itself. Special Book Week book-markers will be distributed for that week. On Taursday night, November 18th, the librarian will meet with the soldier discussion group for a talk on "Mississippi in Literature."

It Could Be

NOTE: This is a letter written by Mr. Parks C. Archer, General Claims Attorney of Chicago and Alton R. R. and Baltimore and Ohio R. R. to Mrs. John Scott, of Grenada:

A farmer insured the life of a hog for $10,000. It was a valuable hog, a blue ribbon winner. When crossing a railroad track it stopped to eat a potato that had fallen between the tracks. A train was approaching. The farmer tried to push the hog off the track. It was a large stubborn hog and didn't push easily. Both the farmer and hog were killed. The farmer's wife received $10,000 from the insurance on the hog, but nothing for the loss of her husband. A striking contrast in values. The dead hog was worth more than the dead husband. The hog was an asset—the dead husband a liability. The widow paid the farmer's debts, taxes and burial expenses out of the insurance on the hog. The hog was buried in a ditch—the farmer in a nice cemetery, notwithstanding the fact that the farmer had no pedigree—no blue ribbons and no insurance.

We were glad to see Mr. Lon Thomas who has been in bad physical condition for some time, able to walk up town Saturday. Hope you continue to improve, Mr. Thomas.

Mr. Wm. Dubard Celebrates 96th Birthday

The children, grandchildren and great-grandchildren of Mr. William Dubard gathered at the Dubard home on Third Street in Grenada in celebration of Mr. Dubard's 96th birthday.

Lovely chrysanthemums and roses were used lavishly in the reception rooms, and all of Mr. Dubard's children were present except Mrs. R. L. Hinds, who was unavoidably detained at home.

The family group gathered in the music room to sing old favorite songs and to see motion pictures made of previous family gatherings. These were shown by David Dubard, a grand son of Mr. Dubard.

A delightful salad course was served and later the large birthday cake bearing the inscription, "Happy Birthday, Papa," was cut and served with ice cream.

Mr. Dubard is the oldest white citizen of Grenada County. He makes his home with his daughter, Mrs. B. J. Anderson and is the father, grandfather and great grandfather of an outstanding group of local citizens, many of whom are in the armed forces. He is the only surviving Confederate Veteran in Grenada County.

Many more happy birthdays, Mr. Dubard.

Just For Fun

They must think that the Air Corps is part of the Army now—trying to send them out in the cold on bivouac.

Speaking of the eight o'clock risers, we hear that Flight Officer Wilson is dating a little QM lassie named Dottie rather regularly these days. The QM Office has just recovered from one wedding, and is trying to persuade Dottie to wait until next pay check.

Still on the Air Corps, this is a little notice to Claire Allison: Lay that Pistol down, Babe, we were just joking.

Sarah Rainer at Base Headquarters is still wearing that old fraternity ring. She sang at Dorothy Jean Kennedy's wedding Thursday night at the Chapel at the Base. Dorothy works in Headquarters, you know, where she sees a lot of brass hats, but she picked Pfc. Gordon Denals, from Texas.

Last Saturday we saw Martha Lupton at Camp McCain, and she danced most of the evening with a recently moustached first Lieutenant, That's a little come-down from gold leaves.

Speaking of gold leaves, one of the new wearers of same is our good Post Engineer, George L. Burke, Jr. You can now tack a Major before the name.

Congratulations will soon be in order for Lt. and Mrs. Hornung. He's the Signal Officer for the 410th, you know, and used to live in Water Valley. Nuse later.

And also still on Water Valley, it was said that last week Mary Jane Appleton, who works at Civilian Personnel at the Base, was seen buying groceries with Johnson, one of the Texas privates at the Base. But they were only for her mother, she explained.

Lt. Morris Katz, of the Quartermaster at the Field was again seen dining with Miss Levy, from Base Headquarters. (Golly, couldn't we do some fine work as a love-lorn society!) They were trying out the new Spaghetti House, near the Station. They were also trying out the dance floor at Camp McCain last Saturday night. It has been rumored that they are going to rename the Divison Club, and incorporate the Air Corps in its new title.

The Stork Flew By And Left . . .

a little girl, Beverly Ann, for Lt. and Mrs. Frank Horton, at Grenada Hospital on November 6, 1943.

a little daughter, Sharon Lynn, for Staff Sgt. and Mrs. Paul J. Woolum at the Vicksburg Hospital on October 25, 1943.

NOTICE TO ALL BOARDING AND ROOMING HOUSES IN GRENADA

The Board of Mayor and Aldermen have adopted State Health Department regulations governing the operation of rooming and boarding houses within Grenada. These houses will be inspected at regular intervals by both authorized health inspector and a representative of the military authorities. These places must be kept in sanitary condition, and each of you are required to fully comply with all rules and regulations prescribed by the State Board of Health. It is not our desire to antagonize any one but we must insist that these rules be observed. If you do not cooperate you will be subject to prosecution and there is a possibility that your place will be placed out of limits to military personnel.

Your cooperation in this important matter will be appreciated very much by both military authorities and the City of Grenada.

L. C. PROBY, Mayor.

Merritte Clogston Lands Safely

Sgt. Merritte Clogston of the Air Corps, has notified his mother that he has landed safely overseas. He is stationed "somewhere" in the South Pacific area. He received the silver wings of an Aerial Gunnery School in Laredo, Texas in June. He received his combat training at Blythe, California. He is the son of Mrs. Lilla Clogston, 420 Levee Street and is a graduate of Grenada High School.

Grenada-Charleston Game The Classic of The Season

At 8 p. m. Friday night, November 12th at Proby Field in Grenada two ancient rivals, the Grenada and Charleston football teams, will meet.

This will be the game of the year for both teams. The Charleston team is undefeated and has had only one touchdown scored against it this season. The Grenada team is undefeated in the North Central Region. Since these two are the only teams undefeated in Regional play this game will decide the Regional Championship. Charleston has a big, fast, powerful team which is seeking revenge for last season's defeat at the hands of Grenada. This game, which will be the last of the season for the local team, should also be the best of the season for the football fans of the Region.

I. C. Inaugurates Passenger Service To Camp McCain

Direct passenger train service between Camp McCain and points north and south has been inaugurated by the Illinois Central Railroad. Major F. W. Waite, the Public Relations officer has announced.

The service was officially opened November 1, when the "Louisiana" southbound, fast passenger train of the Illinois Central System, pulled into the newly completed depot at Camp McCain.

Among the officials of the Illinois Central who arrived at Camp McCain on the "Louisiana" and were greeted by Colonel Ira E. Ryder, Commanding Officer, and Mayor L. C. Proby, of Grenada, were: J. R. McLeod, Assistant Traffic Manager, Memphis; E. J. Meade, General Passenger Agent, Memphis, and H. J. Ranck, Grenada Trainmaster.

A 1500-foot control fence has been erected along the railway right of way opposite the newly completed ticket office. The construction of the control platform meets the requirements of railway engineering and the entire project was completed under the supervision of Lt. Col. Frederick L. Ackerson, port engineer at Camp McCain.

Check Your Auto Insurance

All privately operated vehicles entering the military reservation at Camp McCain must have libality and property damage insurance. This ruling goes into effect on December 1, 1943, according to Major Waite, Public Relations Officer at Camp McCain.

NOTICE

Regular American Legion meeting will be held on Friday night, November 19th instead of Friday night, November 12th. All members and visitors are cordially invited to attend.

Grenada County Post No. 35,
E. W. McNulty, Adjutant.

Over $19,000 Saved On Repairing Shoes at Camp

Uncle Sam, the biggest shoe cobbler and general repairman in the world, saved over $19,00 during the month of September through the operation of his reclamation and repair shop at Camp McCain, Mississippi, says a report for the month released today by Colonel Ira E. Ryder, Commanding Officer.

The shop is operated by civilian employees under the direction of an Army Service Forces Officer and repairs anything a soldier wears from a necktie to shoes, shirts, underwear, clothing, overcoats, or equipment he uses such as cartridge belts, tentage, bedding, even to chairs and other office or barracks furniture. And if the clothing doesn't fit when issued, it is altered.

During the month 23,617 items were repaired or altered. These included 5,244 pairs of shoes; 12,954 articles of clothing, textiles and miscellaneous; 5,244 pieces of canvas and webbing with 175 alterations. Also included are 3,900 metal and wood repair jobs which were accomplished.

Total expenses for the operation of the shop, including salaries, amounted to $1,840.60 for the month and the value of the items, counted at half the original cost of each item, was $30,-925.63, the difference being a saving to the government of $19,085.03.

To Grenada County Milk Producers

Grenada County milk producers who wish to receive paymenis under the Dairy Feed Payment Program should save evidence of milk and butterfat sales for presentation in applying for such payments, according to Mr. Ben W. McElwrath, Chairman of the Grenada County AAA Committee.

The rate of payment for Grenada county dairy producers will be 0.50 cents per hundredweight for whole milk deliveries and 0.6 cents per pound of butterfat sold in cream and butter. The butterfat test of the milk will not affect the payment for whole milk delivered.

Application for payment on October milk and butterfat deliveries should be made to the County AAA Committee between November 8 and 20. For the convenience of producers, the AAA Office located in Grenada on Mound Street will assist you in preparing your application.

Applications for payment on November and December deliveries will be made January 1 to 10. The current Dairy Feed Payment Program of the War Food Administration, designed to partially offset increased costs of feed, covers the period October 1 through December 31, 1943.

To apply for payment, the milk producer has to present evidence of his sales in the form of the customary sales slips, receipts, stubs obtained from the milk purchasers, or in some other form acceptable to the County Committee. Evidence of feed purchases will NOT be required.

After receiving the application with satisfactory evidence of milk deliveries, the County Committee will write a draft on the Commodity Credit Corporation in favor of the producer. This draft can be cashed at any bank.

Mrs. Avent went to Memphis with him and they returned Tuesday evening.

STAGE SCREEN RADIO

By VIRGINIA VALE

Released by Western Newspaper Union.

TIME was when an actor was likely to lose his public if he stayed off the screen for even a short time. Some can't risk it now. Alan Ladd doesn't belong in that class—a large part of the public is remaining faithful to him while he's off serving his country, and refusing to put anyone else in their idol's place. He worked hard for his success—had years of encouragement but few good roles, and put in time working in radio before he got a good role in "Joan of Paris." Then he tested for "This Gun for Hire," and when Paramount executives saw his test they didn't bother about testing anyone else. His success in that role was like Marlene Dietrich's in "Morocco"—instantaneous.

Gary Moore, who co-stars with Jimmy Durante over both CBS and NBC, will make his picture debut under David Selznick's sponsorship, and will be developed as "a sort of combination of Fred Allen and Bob Hope"—which should be something! It'll be Allen on writing ability and Hope from the slant of his delivery.

Howard Petrie, announcer of the Moore-Durante air show, had both Paramount and RKO after him with a long-term acting contract. He stands six feet four and weighs 240 pounds—right up with Paramount's Bill Edwards, of "Our Hearts Were Young and Gay."

Hildegarde, the new radio star who has the "Beat the Band" show on Wednesday evenings, introduced a song called "She's Got Bars on Her Shoulders and Stars in Her Eyes"; the WACs couldn't resist the title so adopted the ditty for their official recruiting song.

Pompeii's emergence into front-page importance because of the fighting around Naples inspired RKO to reissue its spectacular "The Last Days of Pompeii," originally released in 1935; its cast includes Alan Hale, Basil Rathbone, and Louis Calhern.

Dick Haymes' first tests at 20th Century-Fox turned out so well that his part in "Four Jills and a Jeep," with Carole Landis, was made bigger and bigger. Meanwhile, his radio sponsor pays for the lad's popularity. Half the program comes from New York, with a full orchestra, chorus, and Jim Ameche featured—another orchestra and chorus goes on in Hollywood, accompanying Haymes' songs.

Flossie Flynn, head of Loew's Telephone Information Service in New York, says that recently her office has been swamped by inquiries about Metro's two-reel short, "Heavenly Music," a tale of a jive musician who can't get into heaven until he convinces a jury of famous composers that swing is real music—says she gets more calls asking where it's playing than she does on feature productions.

It's taken 14 years for Hollywood to get around to remaking "The Bridge of San Luis Rey," done in 1929 as a silent. Benedict Bogeaus, a business man who bought Hollywood's General Service Studios a year and a half ago, bought the screen rights and put Rowland V. Lee in as director—and now the picture's timed right to coincide with the work of the Committee on Inter-American Affairs.

The Ellery Queen cast likes to be heard above the incidental music of the organ, except when guest detectives turn up early, during the dress rehearsal—then, when the crime's solution is given, the organ fairly roars, drowning out all voices.

ODDS AND ENDS—Tenor Bill Days, discovered by Groucho Marx in his radio program's chorus, and then given the solo singing part, has been signed to a 26-week contract . . . Looks as if "Blondie"—Penny Singleton—would soon be kicking her pretty legs again in musicomedy films—she was originally brought to Hollywood because of her success in musicals on the Broadway stage . . . Maureen O'Hara, last seen in RKO's "The Fallen Sparrow," and Paul Henried will co-star in that studio's "The Spanish Main" . . . Roy Acuff, a star on radio's "Grand Ole Opry," may be a candidate for governor in Tennessee's elections next year.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

DREW PEARSON

Washington, D. C.

RUSSIAN RELATIONS IMPROVE

The diplomatic grapevine reports that inter-Allied relations with Russia are going pretty well now. This is certainly true on the surface, and while some irritations have occurred below the surface, both sides have shown a real tendency to try to get along.

Most serious sub-surface irritation was over the Mediterranean Council, through which Russia, the United States and Britain were to confer regarding Italy, North Africa and the Balkans.

The Russians, snubbed earlier in the summer regarding preliminary Italian armistice terms, took the Mediterranean Council seriously and appointed as their representative Andrei Vishinski, the famous prosecutor in the Russian purge trials. This was the equivalent of sending the most outstanding member of the U. S. Supreme court or the leading lawyer of England.

Vishinski is a man of national stature, capable of making Mediterranean decisions without consulting Moscow. But to represent the United States on the Mediterranean Council, Secretary Hull sent Ed Wilson, U. S. ambassador to Panama. Wilson is a thorough-going, competent diplomat who can handle any routine job and handle it well. But almost no one outside diplomacy or Panama has heard of him. He has no national stature and he cannot act on his own.

Immediately it developed that Wilson was to act as a glorified messenger and report everything back to Washington. The British representative was to do the same. In other words, Churchill and Roosevelt were to make the decisions, and the much publicized Mediterranean Council was to be a mere reporting agency.

This immediately roused Russian wrath. They had welcomed the Council, appointed a top man. So for a moment they considered withdrawing. However, for the sake of Allied harmony, they stayed on and are giving the Mediterranean Council a trial.

POOR 'PA' WATSON

Toughest job White House Secretary Maj. Gen. Edwin ("Pa") Watson of the White House secretariat has to tackle each day is keeping the President's appointment schedule on time.

Frequently FDR will sit talking to an old friend for 15 or 20 minutes over the allotted time, and that snarls the White House schedule for the rest of the day.

This is hard on the general's nervous system, especially when bigwigs from the war or navy departments are waiting to discuss military matters. On such occasions Watson is not above barging in and breaking up the conference.

The other day when the President's old friend, Governor Bob Kerr of Oklahoma, was overstaying his time—through no fault of his own—Watson walked in and began to parade nervously about the room.

"Well, here's the undertaker, Mr. President," grinned Kerr, catching the hint. "If one of your callers gets so he doesn't move, 'Pa' will move him."

Roosevelt laughingly motioned Watson to a chair.

"Sit down and talk to us for awhile, general," he said. "We're having a very interesting conversation."

With a sigh, Watson took a chair.

BACK TO NORMALCY

Industry's eagerness to get back to peacetime operation is seen in the deluge of mail received by the chemical division of WPB. Theme of every letter is: Unlace the straightjacket and give us a chance to expand.

This pressure hits the chemical division more than any other because of the tight control which that division has exercised over the industry, and also because of the tremendous future of plastics and other developments in the chemical field.

Controls are so tight that no materials may be bought or sold without clearance with WPB, and in the course of getting clearance, the applicant must state a lot of intimate facts about his business, including buying price, selling price, profit, and inventories.

The real meaning of the complaint is that the industry is not worried about paper work so much as it is worried about limitation on profits. Under government control, prices are held down by the fact that sales are limited to war needs, but when this restriction is removed, the demand for chemical materials will be terrific, and profits will go through the ceiling.

ALL FOR NOTHING

A man came home in the small hours of the morning and, having a wholesome fear of his wife, decided to proceed with caution.

Taking off his shoes, he crept noiselessly upstairs, stealthily opened the bedroom door, and, with the greatest care, crawled into bed. With a sigh of relief, he went off to sleep.

In the morning he looked round for his wife, and suddenly remembered she had been staying with an aunt for the past two weeks.

Right?

Billy—Which apple do you want, Tom?

Tom—The biggest one.

Billy—You ought to be polite and take the little one.

Tom—Why should I lie just to be polite?

School Days

Johnny—Don't you know Sir Conference?

Jimmy—No. I never met him.

Johnny—That's funny. He gets around an awful lot!

DROP IN SOMETIME

Wife—Where did you get that red lantern, dear?

Absent-minded Prof—Some careless fool left it out in front of our house beside a hole in the road.

Let Us Pray

A Sunday School superintendent who was slightly overenthusiastic about regular attendance announced at assembly: "Out of our whole school this Sunday only one student is absent today—little Jimmy Crockett—let us pray he is ill!"

Friend-in-Law

Usher—Are you a friend of the groom, madam?

Lady (arriving at church) — I should say not! I'm the bride's mother!

SELLING POINT

He'd been standing in the town square for some time, trying to sell his wares without much success. But now he'd managed to collect a crowd, and started again with renewed hope.

"Now here's a comb for you!" he said hoarsely. "And what a comb! You can twist it, bend it, hit it with a hammer, and it won't break. You can—"

Then a tired voice came from the crowd:

"But can you comb your hair with it?"

No Improvement

Smith—Why don't you change the sign over your store by putting in your full first name. "Trade With A. Swindler" doesn't look very good.

A. Swindler—I figure that wouldn't be much improvement. You see my first name is Adam.

Please Don't!

Hypnotist—Now, ladies and gentlemen, I shall make this man forget everything.

Voice in the Back—Hold on, he owes me $5!

JUST JESTING

She Swapped

Mary—You mean thing! You promised me faithfully that you wouldn't give away that secret I told you. But now it's all around the town!

Mabel—I didn't give it away. I exchanged it for others.

Most Likely

"And when I sing everybody claps their hands."

"Over their ears?"

Nowadays, where there's smoke, they're often jaytalkers playing with fire.

Here and There

"But for one thing, I'd go home and stay with mother," she said.

"What's that one thing?" demanded her husband.

"Mother's coming here to live with us. She's left father!"

The Sensible Thing

SNAPPY FACTS ABOUT RUBBER

Ceylon, Africa and Tropical America are expected to provide the U.S. with 54,000 long tons of crude rubber during 1943. In 1939, it is estimated, 499,473 long tons of crude were imported by this country.

Para, Brazil, was the first great rubber center. Founded in 1823, it became an important port for foreign trade about 1775. A hundred years later it was the rubber capital of the world.

Rubber obtained from a native wild vine in the Belgian Congo under hospital is all Belgium wealthy during the 1890-1910 period. Plantation rubber development killed the Congo vine boom.

FAULTY FLUES

Question: When a strong south west wind blows, my furnace backs up and fills the house with coal gas, so that I can hardly keep up the fire. The furnace faces north. I had an extension put on the chimney, but the trouble still persists. Can you suggest anything?

Answer: There are several reasons for poor draft. To be satisfactory, a chimney flue should be of sufficient area to provide ample draft; boiler manufacturer's directions should be followed. The flue should be tight for its entire length, and preferably lined with a fire-clay flue lining. The following are conditions that will interfere with a free chimney draft and prevent the proper operation of the fire: (1) Obstructions in the chimney; (2) a projection into the chimney; (3) a break in the chimney lining, or a defect in the masonry that permits leakage of air; (4) projection of the smoke pipe part way across the flue; (5) an air leak around the cleanout door at the base; (6) the smoke pipe entering the chimney on an down slant; (7) two or more pipe openings into one flue; (8) size of the flue contracted at the top or a small-sized pipe extension; (9) top of the chimney below the high point of the roof—the top should be at least two feet above the peak—or the top may be blanketed by a nearby tall tree or building; (10) flue clogged with soot or dust, especially at a point where it makes a bend.

Recreation Room

Question: During hot, humid weather moisture condenses on the concrete walls and floor in the basement. My theory of eliminating this trouble is to prevent the air from coming into direct contact with the concrete. One portion of the basement is to be a recreation room, with knotty pine walls, the remainder may be painted. Is the concrete too new for the work planned? House was completed last January. Is air circulation between the walls and concrete desirable? What is the effect of insulation between walls?

Answer: The concrete is now hard enough for the work you contemplate. Air should not circulate between the concrete wall and the paneling; if it does, the hot, humid air will condense again on the cold concrete. Of course, I take for granted that the walls are dry at all other times of the year; if not, they should be made dampproof. Insulation between the paneling and the cellar walls is not necessary.

LOOSE PIANO KEY

Question: The top has come off one of my piano keys. What kind of glue should be used to replace it so that it will stay white? Some were replaced previously and have darkened.

Answer: Scrape the old glue off both key and the ivory, and stick the ivory back with shellac or with casein glue, which can be had at a hardware store.

Coal in a Fireplace

Question: Will you give me instructions on the use of a coal grate in a fireplace? The fireplace is three feet wide by two feet deep. The grate measures 12 inches by 21 inches.

Answer: Where the coal grate is narrower than the width of the fireplace opening, block off the spaces on the sides of the grate with brick. This can be built very easily with loosely cemented bricks. The idea is to confine the draft through the bed of coals in the grate and not allow it to escape around the sides.

Insulated Roof

Question: Our house has been insulated with rock wool to the top of the roof, including the roof itself, which is completely blanketed. Our attic floor, however, is not insulated. My husband says it should be, and I claim that it is unnecessary. What is your opinion?

Answer: You are right; the additional insulation would be a waste of money and would not add to the comfort of the house.

The Private Papers Of a Cub Reporter:

Not long ago I lost a friend. . . Ben Bernie died . . . Many people liked Ben Bernie. Because Ben Bernie liked many people . . . Ben had more than acting talent . . . The fact is—the easy good nature known to millions of Americans was not an act . . . A human being himself, he really loved his fellowmen.

Ben Bernie's life was an example of the opportunity America offers a son of poor immigrant parents. And his death is an example of the devotion these Americans have for their country.

Ben was warned by his doctors that his bond drive engagements and his many, many appearances at Army camps and war plants were too much for his strength . . . But Ben kept on . . . And he died.

How much his bit helped cannot, of course, be measured . . . But this we know. He continued in the fight against the orders of Government authorities, his doctors and the entreaties of his family . . . And now his effort is ended . . . Because over and beyond the call of duty, Ben Bernie tried to give his country more than he had.

Our "feud" with Ben Bernie started in 1931 . . . The sponsor of the cigarette firm for which I rode the Magic Carpet (with orchestras from all over the world) suggested that the show needed some humor . . . I borrowed an old stunt that worked so well with Mark Hellinger with whom I "feuded" . . . Phoning Ben at the College Inn in Chicago, I told him that on the next broadcast I was going to read a telegram from him . . . It was for the orchestra leader (Duchin) and it said: "Just heard first broadcast with Winchell. You were wonderful! Can get you $5,000 at State-Lake Theater with Winchell and $10,000 WITHOUT him!" . . . I told Ben I would then tell one on him—and from that date on—every man for himself! . . . Swell, he said, go ahead . . . And you know the rest . . . Anyway, that's how it started.

Robert Ley, the Nazi party's problem drunk, got sober enough the other day to have a good scare. He began to sort of realize that it's getting down toward the pay-off, and things aren't looking too good for him . . . To save his skin he tossed the Nazi master race theory into the ashcan . . . That was just campaign stuff, he scoffed, and shouldn't be taken seriously. We're all good fellas together, he orated, and we're just loving everybody to pieces . . . It happens that lush Ley is head of the Nazis' labor dep't, and from where he sits he can get a worse set of d.t.s than he ever collected from schnapps . . . He knows that there are 12,000,000 prisoners of labor in the Reich, and 12,000,000 able-bodied enemies represent a lot of hell when the time comes to raise it.

The big weakness of Ley's scheme is that the soldiers are going to bring in their own accusations . . . They saw the Nazi idea at work in Italy, frinstance . . . Farnsworth Folwell and John Lardner reported the butcheries of the ex-master race at Cajazzo, and if that crime isn't avenged, then victory will lack something . . . This wasn't war. It was massacre for Nazi pleasure . . . The Nazis evacuated the town, then sneaked back and slaughtered whole families, women and children included — especially women and children . . . As Lardner points out, it lacked even the excuse of a lynching frenzy. It was methodical. It was more than two miles over hilly country between them and the victims' homes . . . The Huns marched the distance because they enjoyed killing the helpless. It was a crime so incredibly horrible that Folwell didn't dare broadcast it until he checked and double-checked it.

An acquaintance would have you believe he went into a restaurant which advertised: "We Serve Everything!" and heard a drunk tease the manager with: "Everything, eh? Well, bring me an elephant steak!" . . . The manager countered: "Very well—how many in your party?" . . . "One, me!" said the lush . . . "Sorry," was the tactful retort, "we can't kill a whole elephant for just one customer!" . . . The beer shortage will be ended soon. An important midwest brewer has a new patented formula and process, and will accept all orders starting December 1 . . . Quiz Kid Joel Kupperman will do a second film for Republic Pictures—at $3,000 per week. His first for Universal got $2,000. The contract will eventually get him 5 Gs per.

In the early Summer of '41, the U. S. Army General Staff informed the State Dep't of the desperate state of U. S. preparedness. There were many conferences between Gen. Marshall and Ass't Sec'y of State Berle in the gravest possible time . . . Shortly after one of these meetings a Senator called upon Berle . . . "What possible excuse is there for selling gasoline to Japan?" he demanded . . . "Confidentially, Senator," said Mr. Berle, "the chips are down in the East. We're not selling gas now—we're buying time!"

THE SANCTITY OF THE HOME

LESSON TEXT—Exodus 20:14; Matthew 5:27-30; Mark 10:2-12.
GOLDEN TEXT—Blessed are the pure in heart: for they shall see God.—Matthew 5:8.

As the divinely appointed center of man's life, the home holds a place of such importance that it is the special target of Satan's offensive. That has always been true, but it seems that in recent years the onslaught against the home has been intensified.

Books, plays, movies, magazines, all contribute their filthy efforts to break down all sense of moral responsibility. Sex is magnified, and not in any useful or normal sense, but rather for the stimulating of unholy desires and purposes, the breaking down of Christian standards of living, and the ultimate prostitution of the most sacred of all human relationships to the lowest level of which animals might well be ashamed.

All this means that this lesson should be taught with a holy boldness and plainness which will make it effective for God in our homes.

We do not like to talk about adultery and related sins. We must speak with care and tact, but perhaps the time has come for some straightforward dealing with an unpleasant situation.

I. Protect the Purity of the Home (Exod. 20:14; Matt. 5:27-30).

Any violation of the divine plan for the marriage of one man and one woman, in loving communion for the founding and maintenance of the home, is a direct violation of the law of God.

It is also a violation of the law of man. It brings serious results in the destruction of the home, and in the ruin of individual life—physical, moral and spiritual.

The words of Jesus broaden the interpretation of the commandment to cover all sexual impurity in thought, word, or deed.

We are to be firm and definite in our dealing with this temptation to moral uncleanness even though it be as painful as tearing out an eye or losing a hand. The command here is not necessarily to be interpreted literally. Tearing out an eye will not help if there is lust in the heart. The point is, go to the root of the matter, and get rid of it even if it hurts. Most of us are far too easy on our sinful impulses. We dally with them when we should destroy them.

II. Recognize Marriage as a Divine Institution (Mark 10:2-8).

The Pharisees, who had devised some ingenious schemes for getting rid of an undesired wife, wanted to get Jesus involved in the question. They put him up against Moses who had allowed divorce.

Jesus made it clear that this was not in accord with God's plan and only took place because of their sinful hardheartedness.

As a proper background for the discussion of divorce He set up the divine origin of marriage. He made it clear that marriage was ordained by God, and that it involves a holy union of two individuals which makes them one.

All those who look forward to marriage should realize that it is not a casual thing, or a merely temporary legal contract. It is a union for life—be it for better or worse, in sickness or health, in prosperity or adversity. All who are married should highly regard their sacred vows.

The high place of marriage in Christian teaching dignifies that relationship and denies the misleading and destructive theories of men.

III. Follow God's Law on Divorce (Mark 10:9-12).

Failure to observe God's law in these matters may involve a person in the guilt of gross sin. This passage and others teach that divorce is to be permitted on the one ground of adultery (Matt. 5:32).

Divorce and remarriage other than on grounds permitted by God involves the parties in the sin of adultery. Men may make laws based on the civil contract of marriage which provide differently, but man cannot remove marriage from its place as a divine institution, nor can he add to or take away from God's law concerning it.

Aware, as we are, of the laxness of some branches of the church in such matters, and the almost entire lack of standards in the world, we cannot but present the plain teachings of our Lord and urge every reader to follow the commandment of God's Word.

There can be no question that divorce is a major evil in our day. Statistics are positively shocking, but they are cold and quickly forgotten. But who can fail to see, and who can forget, the awful woe brought into American home life by divorce.

Bad as it is, the awful effect on parents is nothing compared to the nervous, moral and spiritual shock which comes to children in broken homes. And that problem is everywhere.

Robot Radio Operator

The lives of many torpedoed seamen may be saved by a new invention.

It is an automatic wireless transmitter. The ship's name and code mark are inscribed on a film, and the vessel's position is inserted on the film as often as conditions demand.

When a vessel is torpedoed or mined, the transmitter comes into action and continues to send out the ship's name as long as the ship remains afloat without the radio operator standing by. The inventor is Captain Espeseth, a Norwegian seaman.

Jesus Speaking . . .

"Therefore", said Jesus, "all things whatsoever ye would that men should do unto you, do ye even so unto them; for this is the law and the prophets."

The above quotation, not the slogan, "Do them while the doing is good," is the Golden Rule.

A better application of the Golden Rule to the soldiers in this area would be most healthful. Then, too, some of the soldiers who uselessly destroy property of landlords, use to much fuel and electric current, might read and obey the Golden Rule.

The Golden Rule simply means that Grenada people should treat the strange soldiers here as they would have people in other camp towns treat Grenada boys. Universally applied, all of the friction would disappear.

In regard to what I have heretofore said editorially about the situation, I have an unusual number of written replies, all of which applaud me. These letters, properly deleted, to avoid suits, will be published soon IF good results do not come from a meeting of high ranking big shots at the camp and some Grenada citizens recently. The military and the civil authorities at this meeting were unanimous in their determination that SOMETHING, and drastic, should be done, and would be done, about the severe gutting and gyping that the "strangers in our midst" have received.

Gutters and gypers had better read Matthew 7:12 again and again and follow its suggestions, rather than face the penalties that most likely will come from the civil and military authorities, or both.

For the time being, we are going to rest the case, pending the outcome of the meeting.

A Step Backward

I know two recent cases where buildings, not meeting the requirements set forth in the City Code for construction within the Fire District have not been observed. The latest one, to which I invite attention the third time, is the coal house in the rear of the USO-NCCS building (the old City Hotel).

The city officials may ignore these matters, but you may be sure that the fire insurance companies, who use hard-headed rules which in the long run insure profit, do not overlook these matters, and that property owners within the Fire District will pay dearly for infractions of the rules. This shack is about 20 odd feet from the main building, it is about ten feet from Doak's warehouse and is about three or four feet from the property line, and, if I know incombustible material, is not completely sheeted with incombustible material.

Such precedents should not be made. Precedents are hard to get around. If I requested a permit to build a shack in the back yard of my business place, and was refused, I could legitimately refer to the "jack barn" and to the coal house, and could, with good reason and logic raise hell about the refusal.

It's best to hew to the line.

THE McKINNEYS THANK GRENADIANS

USO Column

In spite of rain a group of servicemen, their wives and Junior Hostesses as well as guests enjoyed the weekly dance at the USO Legion Hut on Saturday evening, with the Air Base Orchestra furnishing the music. Senior Hostesses for the evening were, Mrs. D. G. Ross, Mrs. T. T. Yeager, Mrs. Raphael Semmes and Mrs. C. C. Penn. Miss Robbie Doak was Building Hostess during the evening at the Community House USO.

On Sunday evening during the Snack Hour at the Community House USO lavendar and white baby mums and white candles formed the centerpiece of the table at which sandwiches, cookies and Russian tea were served. Mrs. Earl Burkley was chairman and was assisted by Mrs. Joe Neely and Miss Robbie Doak. Mrs. Mollie McLeod served as Building Hostess for the afternoon.

Plans are being made for an Armistice Day dance to be held by the Community House USO at the Legion Hut on Saturday evening at 8 o'clock. Commander Eli Whitaker, and Mrs. Whitaker and several other members of the Legion and their wives have been invited to attend as Patrons and Patronesses for the occasion.

Armistice Day was celebrated at the Community House by a special group discussion on conditions for "New Peace" led by Mr. William Wright.

Don't Neglect Them!

Nature designed the kidneys to do a marvelous job. Their task is to keep the flowing blood stream free of an excess of toxic impurities. The act of living—life itself—is constantly producing waste matter the kidneys must remove from the blood if good heath is to endure.

When the kidneys fail to function as Nature intended, there is retention of waste that may cause body-wide distress. One may suffer nagging backache, persistent headache, attacks of dizziness, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes—feel tired, nervous, all worn out.

Frequent, scanty or burning passages are sometimes further evidence of kidney or bladder disturbance.

The recognized and proper treatment is a diuretic medicine to help the kidneys get rid of excess poisonous body waste. Use Doan's Pills. They have had more than forty years of public approval. Are endorsed the country over. Insist on Doan's. Sold at all drug stores.

THE QUEEN'S TASTE

Queens usually stay upon a high pedestal and are looked up to, copied after and in fact most anything a good Queen does is considered in good taste . . . I remember back in times past when folks would polish the buggy whips, grease the buggy with castor oil and tie the horses tails up with a nice colored ribbon and practically every woman was considered a Queen.

It is usually hard for a man to understand a Queen and about the time he thinks he knows her pretty well, he finds out that he didn't. . . Some Queens are inclined to be silly, but most of them are very smart, intelligent, home-loving Queens with plenty of good common sense and if treated half way right make mighty good Queens.

SHE PICKED IT RIGHT

Queens, as a rule try to give their families the best of everything, especially good food and you'll usually find a number of fine, pretty Queens in our place getting their family food supply and believe it or not, we exert every effort to be courteous and helpful and try to see that our friendly Queens get satisfaction in every transaction.

Try It Today

One time a Queen was wanting a good flour, one that she could depend upon to be an all-purpose, all-around, every-day flour, so she tried several and finally she decided on one and it suited her so well that she called it—QUEEN'S TASTE—and it really is a good flour, in fact it is so good that we sell as much of it as we do of all of our other flours combined—and we sell it on a money-back guarantee.

If you have not tried Queen's Taste Flour, try it today and you'll not be disappointed.

We are having a big sale on Queen's Taste Flour, but we'll have lots of other nice things too, such as Raisins, Coconuts, Oranges, Delicious Apples, Fruit Cakes, Candy, Canned Pineapple, several varieties of canned Corn and Peas. We could go on and on naming items, but it is much better to come and see for yourself.

Sportlight by Grantland Rice

JUST what will happen to football through November is anybody's guess. But there will be many vital changes from October strength. All leading college teams today get the better part of their strength from naval entries. Many of these, some of them leading stars, will graduate soon—some time late this month.

Grantland Rice

For one example, Bertelli leaves Notre Dame, and his loss will be no small blow in working the T-formation where Frank Leahy's star is one of the masters.

A fine passer and a deft handler of the ball are needed badly in the proper operation of this attack and there are not many, if any, Bertellis around to fill the gap.

The first fall examinations are over now, and this may mean a heavy scattering of talent down the stretch. There are some good teams left, especially Army and Navy, Notre Dame and Pennsylvania.

And these latter two may be weakened before too long. Just what will happen to Duke, North Carolina, Southern California, Washington, College of the Pacific, Texas and Southwestern, all among the stronger squads, remains another unguessable guess. Just at this point the navy itself isn't sure.

These departures from one campus or another can make an important difference for many teams.

Only a marvelous bunch of soothsayers will be able to take care of the November football program down the stretch.

Two Teams to Watch

None of this involves Lieut. Col. Red Blaik's Army team at West Point, nor Capt. Johnny Whelchel's Navy team at Annapolis.

They will remain intact, and they were nothing to push around anyway.

For Army and Navy have had two of the best football squads in the country—not tossing aside Notre Dame.

I happen to know that Frank Leahy has figured from the start that Army and Navy were his two hardest contests, not overlooking Michigan.

Frank Leahy is one of the best coaches in the game. He appreciates the value of speed. He knows that a year ago if Dippy Evans had been in there to play, Notre Dame would have known an unbeaten season.

For Dippy Evans, a great back, was the real key to his T-formation.

A year ago Leahy had no fast, breakaway back. This also handicapped Bertelli.

It has been all different this season. Notre Dame has had at least two fast breakaway backs to support Bertelli, Mello and others. One of these is a fellow by the name of Creighton Miller.

Just what will happen when Notre Dame loses Bertelli is another guess when it comes to operating the T-formation.

Bertelli has been the vital cog in this formation.

Just what Lujack, or some one else can do in Bertelli's place against rough and rugged competition, remains to be seen.

There will be time enough to look this situation over when the clock rolls around.

The Bowl Games

One of the main mysteries of football this fall concerns November's stretch and just how the various New Year's Day Bowl games will be worked out.

There are four major bowl games, requiring eight teams to fill up the various menus from Los Angeles to Miami, via Dallas and New Orleans.

Here are the leading available bowl entries so far—

West Coast—Southern California, College of the Pacific and Washington.

Southwest—Southwestern, Texas and Texas A. and M.

South—Duke and North Carolina.

Midwest—None who will indulge in bowl parties.

East—Pennsylvania a doubtful possibility. Army and Navy won't go.

There have been dizzy scrambles before to get the choice cuts. This next one will be even dizzier than usual.

Should teams be judged on what they were in September and October or what they might be by the end of November?

The Pro Campaign

The pro football season of 1943 has picked up, after a remembered fashion, just about where it left off a year ago.

It is still a matter of the western clubs heading off Chicago's Bears in the West—with the eastern delegation checking Washington's Redskins.

These are still the two clubs to surround and cut down if there is to be any change in the next championship game, meaning East versus West.

Juvenile Fliers Learn Tricks Of Air Currents on Ground

Schoolboys may be too young to fly real airplanes for their country, but they want to learn the principles of aviation in a manner which approaches the thrill of the real thing. A California glider company and Aeronautical Engineer Volmar Jensen have created a preflight glider which brings youngsters plenty of thrills and a basic flying technique without risking their necks. With the glider, schoolboys learn to keep a steady course through rushing air currents. They do it on the ground towed by an automobile traveling 30 miles an hour.

Breezing along behind the tow car, the cadet above tries to prevent the glider's wing tips from scraping the ground. Perfectly controlled, the glider will roll smoothly with tail up and wings level.

Right: Use of these jigs simplifies construction of the glider. Wood parts are fitted in, nailed and glued. The glider is made of non-priority materials and can be assembled by school manual training classes. A single control stick is connected to wings and tail.

Ready to match his technique against air currents, the student, above, informs the automobile driver that he is ready. Tow car pulls away and the 100 foot line is jerked taut.

The glider zooms past an assembly of fellow students. Despite rushing air, it is level. The operator is controlling its balance, something that any pilot must master before he takes to the air.

Below: Volmar Jensen attaches the rudder to the tail. He built several safety devices into the craft to eliminate the usual risks of preliminary glider instruction. Any ideas that the non-ascending gliders were "sissified" were soon dispelled. It was quite difficult to keep a level course at a speed of 30 miles an hour. But most of them soon mastered this technique and are on the way to becoming pilots later on.

Wings and rudder are removable for transportation purposes.

WACS Sail for England

By Doris Fleeson

(WNU Feature—Through special arrangement with Woman's Home Companion.)

There were 650 American girls in the First WAC Separate Battalion with whom I sailed to Europe. As we boarded the transport, each girl wore a tin helmet, dress uniform, utility coat, pistol belt with first-aid packet and canteen, shoulder bag, mask. Shoulders bent under the heavy musette—but hours of hiking had enured the girls to this burden.

Each WAC carried over her arm a heavy topcoat, hiding within its folds heaven knows what of last-minute impediments.

"Forward march!" Capt. Mary A. Hallaren, commanding the battalion, barked from the dock as she set off at the head of the column, carrying her full pack as easily as anyone in the ranks. WACs are on the average huskier than American girls used to be, but for a leader they have gone back to the Napoleonic tradition.

Once I asked Captain Hallaren her height. Her demure answer was: "You must be five feet to be a WAC." Her troops call her Captain Peewee or Captain Five-by-Five. It has been suggested that Captain Hallaren's small size disarms men, helps her to get along with them so well. Though small myself, I've never noticed it makes any difference.

Precise Rhythm.

The troops' backs looked grim as they swung along in precise soldierly rhythm that makes all men officers jealous.

Captain Hallaren never doubted that her troops would stand the test of the ocean voyage with its close quarters and possible hazard. Since March, she had been commanding her battalion, preparing it for its task. The troops gave her a shillelagh to celebrate her appointment.

Her five companies were formed in obedience to a request for clerks, stenographers and telephone operators to serve with the air force. The average age of the auxiliaries is about 25. They are pretty, homely, fat, slim, blonde, brunette, Protestant, Catholic, Jewish—a cross section of America. Nearly all are high school graduates, a few are college graduates. The officers are drawn chiefly from colleges and the average age is 33.

Captain Hallaren is 36, comes from Lowell, Mass., and is a graduate of Massachusetts State Teachers college. She also studied at Harvard university. The fact that she had traveled for 15 summers in Europe; Latin America and the Near East—often with a pack on her back—was a help, she thinks, in preparing her for the job with the WACs.

Sunday services aboard ship were well attended by the WACs. Officers who censored their mail reported that the girls wrote their families that the services seemed like a link with home.

It was strange to realize that this transport of good-tempered friendly people was actually a task force and as such a rich prize inviting to the enemy; that the sea was the haunt of killers who would destroy us instinctively as wolves tear dogs in the forest.

The transport was crowded to a point that no self-respecting sardine would tolerate. Each voyage is such a tremendous enterprise, so expensive to arrange, that it must pay off in manpower. Eighteen WACs slept in one cabin.

The approach of debarkation time was easy to recognize. An attractive young American, Captain Sherman, came aboard ship to welcome us with good news from Sicily, and gave us the first of the security lectures that began to bombard our ears with increasing frequency.

Step on British Soil.

The sun was in their faces when the WACs first stepped on British soil. The honor of being the very first went to Sergeant Rosekrans. In the train shed the Royal Scots Fusiliers' band struck up Sousa's "King Cotton" march. Then once again we were on a troop train.

The train moved and the WACs sped through a pleasant green countryside that may long be their home. After the train journey of several hours was over, the WACs shouldered their musettes and marched two miles to a replacement depot.

A cheerful Baptist chaplain, C. G. Strippy of Wollaston, Mass., gave the girls their favorite hands-across-the-sea story. He told them about the recently arrived private, dizzy with orientation, who was asked by an officer how he liked the British. The private replied: "Sir, we like the British and the British like us, and them's orders."

The chaplain joked that yesterday was the first cheerful baggage detail he ever saw. He said he was admonished to look after their spiritual welfare and he was going to do it, "no matter what the odds."

For you to make

Large-Sized Vestee

THE older woman sometimes has difficulty in finding instructions to make a smart crocheted sleeveless vestee. This one was especially designed for sizes 38-40 and 42. It is comfortable, well-fitted and can be worn in the house in our winter heat-rationed rooms and is equally comfortable for out-of-door wear under a heavy coat.

Make it of wool sport yarn in American Beauty, navy blue, brown or dark green.

Water spots can often be removed from polished furniture by rubbing lightly with turpentine applied on a soft cloth. Wipe dry and rewax.

Rub salt inside a fowl before adding stuffing for better seasoning.

After yarn has been steamed for removing kinks, wind it on a cake rack. It is not only easier to handle that way, but can readily be hung on the line to dry.

Grape juice frosting is delicious and different. Put three tablespoons grape juice into a pint bowl, then stir in 1 to 1½ cups of confectioner's sugar till mixture is thick enough to spread on your cake.

Hanging racks on cupboard doors are one solution to the need for additional storage space.

Drafts caused by air entering under baseboards can be eliminated by tacking felt weatherstripping under the quarter-round.

Shingle roofs should be kept well painted or stained as a protection against destruction by the elements and to insure against the developments of expensive and difficult-to-find leaks.

To dry a pair of silk stockings without creases or pin marks, clip a couple of clothes pins to a towel rack, slip the stockings over them and spread the pins apart to stretch and spread the hose smoothly.

Farm Topics

Danger of Fire Lurks Constantly in Barns

Hazards May Be Removed By Simple Precautions

Barns generally house the farmer's most valuable livestock, equipment and feed; yet, the barn is packed with fire hazards. But to all practical purposes, all of the major causes of barn fires can be eliminated if the farmer will practice simple precautions and be constantly vigilant. The National Fire Protection association working with the Department of Agriculture, has compiled a list of these dangers.

Cobwebs, dust and litter of all kinds should not be allowed to accumulate around fuse boxes where they may be ignited by short circuits or around high-speed machinery where sparks can set them ablaze. Knotting of electric cords is dangerous as it may be the cause of short circuits. The main switch box should also be far enough removed from the lightning rod cable so that bolts of lightning cannot jump from the cable to the switch box, short circuiting the wiring.

Inflammable roofs often are ignited by chimney sparks, or sparks blown long distances from brush fires, bonfires or forest fires. For this reason inflammable barn roofs should be re-covered with fire-resistant materials such as asphalt shingles or asphalt roll roofing.

Lanterns should never be placed where an animal or a workman can kick them over. They should not be hung on a twine from a dusty and cobweb-covered ceiling. They should be kept away from drafts and away from any accumulations of combustible materials. It was a cow kicking over a lantern that started the great Chicago fire, according to tradition, and many a barn has been destroyed in this way.

Smoking should be prohibited in the barn at all times. It is even dangerous to light up a pipe or a cigarette on the way out the barn door, as the sparks may be blown back to ignite combustible stores inside. Workmen are also advised against carrying loose matches.

Spontaneous combustion of hay is one of the most common barn fire causes. All hay should be properly cured before being stored in the mow and should be inspected frequently for signs of heating. Roof leaks creating moisture will start the heating process in perfectly cured hay.

In addition to these precautions, fire-fighting equipment should be kept on hand at all times to tackle any blaze that breaks out despite all carefulness. Each farm should have a long ladder, hose, buckets of water and sand reserved solely for fire use, and a fire extinguisher. To be effective these things must be kept in sound condition and in a spot where they are immediately available in an emergency.

Clear Pecan Groves

Clearing low producing trees and all foreign timber from a pecan grove often may double production in a relatively short time. According to J. F. Rosborough, horticulturist for the Texas A. and M. college this clean-up has the further benefit of aiding in the control of certain insects and diseases, and facilitating the harvesting of nuts. In all cases however, it should be followed through with the elimination of stumps and sprouts

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS

Allies Prepare Heavy Blows in Italy; Jugo-Slav Guerrillas Threaten Nazis Despite Outbreaks of Factional War; New Cattle Subsidy Plan Is Announced

(EDITOR'S NOTE: When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of Western Newspaper Union's news analysis and not necessarily of this newspaper.)

Released by Western Newspaper Union.

Riding in jeep, Gen. Dwight Eisenhower (left) and Lieut. Gen. Mark Clark pause during front line tour to chat with British soldiers on Bren gun carrier.

EUROPE:
Prepare Attack in Italy

Lieut. Gen. Mark Clark's Fifth army edged into position for a grand assault upon the Germans' new defenses along the 2,500-foot high Massico ridge in southern Italy, while the Nazis prepared to meet the charge by massing artillery and mortars on the front.

On the Adriatic side of the battleline to the east, Gen. Bernard Montgomery's Eighth army also drew up into position for the next big blow by crossing the short Trigno river at several points.

Meanwhile there were indications that the Germans might be planning a strong counter-offensive of their own somewhere in central Italy. Allied reconnaissance reported the steady flow of Nazi troops and materiel from the north toward the battle zone. No such counter-offensive was expected, however, unless the Germans' defense weakened Allied attackers and drew them into open country where Tank Specialist Erwin Rommel could maneuver armor.

Nazis Fight Guerrillas

Pesky guerrilla activity in Jugo-Slavia commanded the attention of the Germans, with Marshal Rommel dispatching strong mechanized forces to quell the armed bands disrupting communications and destroying industrial plants.

But the effectiveness of Jugo-Slav guerrillas was threatened by another outbreak of factional dissension between the forces of King Peter's government and the new so-called "freedom army" of Tito Broz, which fought independently.

While the two political organizations reportedly have been harassing the Germans from one end of Jugoslavia to the other, they also have been accusing one another of collaborating with the Nazis. Broz' faction sentenced 17 persons to death for such collaboration, including a former Jugo-Slav general.

In attempting to wipe out the two guerrilla armies, the German armored columns drove into the hilly country to which Jugo-Slav riflemen retire for cover.

TAXES:
Plan 2 Billion More

Opposed to any form of sales tax, the house ways and means committee was prepared to report a new tax bill for congressional approval, yielding only two billion dollars of revenue instead of the 10½ billion dollars asked by the treasury.

Of the two billion dollars, 600 million would be raised by new liquor taxes. Levies on spirits would be boosted to $10 a gallon, on beer to $8 per barrel, and on wine from five cents to $1 a gallon.

Other revenue would be obtained by increasing postal rates to three cents on local mail, air-mail to 10 cents an ounce, money orders 10 to 37 cents, insured mail 10 to 70 cents, and COD mail 24 cents to $2.40. General admissions would be raised to three cents for every 10 cents; electric light bulbs and tubes would be taxed to 15 per cent of the retail price, and there would be a levy of 20 per cent of the charge on bowling, and $20 per billiard table.

If a sales tax were enacted, the CIO had warned that it would demand wage increases to cover additional purchase costs.

CATTLE:
New Subsidy

To stabilize livestock prices at present market levels, the government announced a new subsidy plan for processors and slaughterers.

Under the program, subsidies of 50 cents will be paid on common cattle selling between $10 and $11 per hundredweight, and for cutter and canner classes ranging from $7.45 to $8.45 per hundredweight.

For good grade cattle selling between $14.25 to $15.25 per hundredweight, a $1.45 subsidy will be paid, while for medium class stock bringing from $12 to $13, a 90 per cent grant will be made. To discourage production of choice to prime beef, a subsidy of $1 will be paid on grades from $15 to $16 per hundredweight.

To slaughterers who do not process by-products, a new subsidy of 80 cents per hundredweight was established. Slaughterers buying cattle below or above the stated prices will have their subsidies reduced by a similar amount.

PACIFIC:
New Blows

While Lieut. Gen. George C. Kenney's air force continued pounding Japanese outposts in the Southwest Pacific, Admiral Chester W. Nimitz promised the seizure of islands which would give the U. S. fleet control of the enemy's home waters.

Adm. Nimitz

No sooner had Admiral Nimitz, as commander in chief of the Pacific fleet, made his statement than it was reported that U. S. forces opened a drive on the Japs' last important stronghold of Bougainville in the Solomons by landing on Mono island to the south of the big base.

Gen. Kenney

Aiming at feeder points which have been supplying Jap positions in the Southwest Pacific, Lieutenant General Kenney's airmen have pulverized such strategic shipping centers as Rabaul on New Britain island, on which 500 tons of bombs were dumped in a five-day period.

PAY BOOST:
Offered Miners

With 48,000 miners out on wildcat strikes, the United Mine Workers policy committee was summoned to meet for consideration of the War Labor board's proposal for granting the nation's 550,000 miners a $1.12½ daily wage boost.

The WLB's proposal differed from the contract drawn between the Illinois Coal Operators and the UMW under which the miners would receive a $1.50 daily pay increase, with compensation for underground travel time.

Acceptance of the WLB proposal would result in wage increases of as much as $10 per week for 46½ hours, it was said, while it was feared rejection would lead to a general mine strike with presidential intervention.

HIGHLIGHTS . . . in the week's news

ORE: Low-grade mines producing metals other than iron and copper were ordered closed down by the War Production board. Officials explain that production of several vital metals has outstripped the need. Premium prices to some mine owners were withdrawn, and imports of some ores banned. Hardest hit are "war baby" mines yielding bauxite, lead, chrome and molybdenum.

FRUIT: The air lines will haul fresh fruit in quantity after the war, predicts Sigmund Janas, president of Colonial Airlines. He believes that this swift transportation will eliminate the need of heavy packing and icing.

NORMANDIE: The former French luxury liner, the Normandie, has been completely refitted and turned over to the navy.

Juvenile Fliers Learn Tricks Of Air Currents on Ground

Schoolboys may be too young to fly real airplanes for their country, but they want to learn the principles of aviation in a manner which approaches the thrill of the real thing. A California glider company and Aeronautical Engineer Volmar Jensen have created a preflight glider which brings youngsters plenty of thrills and a basic flying technique without risking their necks. With the glider, schoolboys learn to keep a steady course through rushing air currents. They do it on the ground towed by an automobile traveling 30 miles an hour.

Breezing along behind the tow car, the cadet above tries to prevent the glider's wing tips from scraping the ground. Perfectly controlled, the glider will roll smoothly with tail up and wings level.

Right: Use of these jigs simplifies construction of the glider. Wood parts are fitted in, nailed and glued. The glider is made of non-priority materials and can be assembled by school manual training classes. A single control stick is connected to wings and tail.

Ready to match his technique against air currents, the student, above, informs the automobile driver that he is ready. Tow car pulls away and the 100 foot line is jerked taut.

The glider zooms past an assembly of fellow students. Despite rushing air, it is level. The operator is controlling its balance, something that any pilot must master before he takes to the air.

Below: Volmar Jensen attaches the rudder to the tail. He built several safety devices into the craft to eliminate the usual risks of preliminary glider instruction. Any ideas that the non-ascending gliders were "sissified" were soon dispelled. It was quite difficult to keep a level course at a speed of 30 miles an hour. But most of them soon mastered this technique and are on the way to becoming pilots later on.

Wings and rudder are removable for transportation purposes.

Wins Distinction Because Of Skill

PFC. ERNEST KEYES

On November 3, 1943, a class of 49 men graduated in Roentgenology in the training center at Memphis, Tenn. (U. of T. Med. Dep.) and Pfc. Ernest Keyes of Grenada, Miss., was the only colored man in the group.

Pfc. Keyes has reventy visited his wife here, also his brother, Robert Keyes and family and his step-mother, Willie Wilson, a sister of the late Lowe Brown.

Mr. John Rundle tells an interesting incident in Pfc. Keyes' life which occurred at the end of a summer and at the end of a period of job work done by Keyes at the Grenada Public Schools property. Pfc. Keyes borrowed 15.00 from Mr. Rundle to enter Jackson College, Jackson, Miss., and the rest of the money needed by Keyes for his school expenses he earned. He is still learning and working.

He is now located at Fort Jackson. S. C. as a Roentgenologist with a Pfc. rating and his Grenada friends, both white and colored congratulate him.

CIVILIAN AWARDS

Testimony to the effect that the stimulus of the Army-Navy "E" and the Maritime "M" production awards has been very great constantly is accumulating. Both management and labor on the home front have been helped to even greater efforts and results by these recognitions of unselfish devotion to the great task of turning out the vital materials of war. Now both directors and workers in a category other than those previously recognized are to receive an achievement award for work well done. These are the seasonal processors of food. The fact that they are not year-round operators makes them ineligible for Army-Navy "E" recognition. But if they meet the same high standards demanded for that badge of honor they are to receive the award of the War Food Administration's "A" flag. Qualifications considered in selection for the award will include ingenuity in the development of war food products, low absenteeism, cooperation in the various food purchase programs, accident prevention and the like.

A number of vital factors on the home front still lack recognition in the form of public awards. The power and utility companies, the communications companies, and even the enormously busy railroads do not fall within the technical requirements for existing awards. There would seem to be little reason why the powerful incentive which existing awards for merit have supplied should not be extended to such fundamentally important elements as the electric light and power industry, which has shown an increase of 73 per cent in its kilowatt hour output since 1939; or the telephone industry, which last year handled 93 per cent more long-distance calls than in 1939; or the American railroads, which in 1942 increased the ton miles moved as compared with 1939 by 92 per cent and the passenger miles by 135 per cent in the same period. The service industries have done and are doing an outstanding war job. They, too, deserve an accolade.

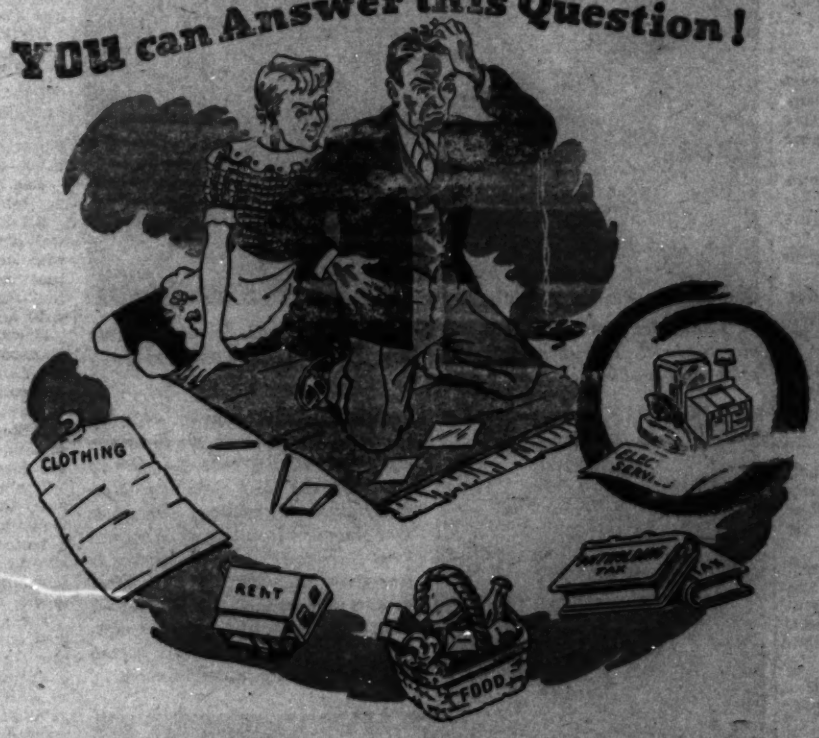
MANUFACTURERS OF BARE AND INSULATED WIRES AND CABLES FOR EVERY ELECTRICAL PURPOSE

YOU can Answer this Question!



WHICH ONE OF THESE COST-OF-LIVING ITEMS HAS NOT GONE UP SINCE PEARL HARBOR?

If you run a home you know that clothing, food and other living expenses have gone up more than 22% since Pearl Harbor. You also know that electricity has not gone up but that you are enjoying the same low rates you had before the war. In fact, if yours is an average family you are getting more than twice as much electricity for your money today than you did 15 years ago.

Remember, that the electric service you buy from electric business management is the only electric service that pays federal taxes. This emphasizes even more the outstanding job these companies, like Mississippi Power and Light, have done. They have stepped production up to meet every war demand and have at the same time kept prices down.

Any reduction you can safely make in your use of electricity will help the voluntary program to conserve fuel, man-power, transportation and materials.
